The Inside Scoop

Another year is coming to a close, but it doesn't mean members of the Central PA Chamber are slowing down!

Like almost always, there is cause for celebration as businesses start, grow and expand.

A great case for expansion is our cover story on Custom Container Solutions. They are ready to take their business to the next level! Find out how they got there on page 3. And, if you are on Facebook and/or YouTube, I would encourage you to watch the entire conversation Central PA Chamber President & CEO had with Todd Vonderheid, Managing Partner of CCS. This company will do great things, and it's because of their willingness to reach out, make connections and take advantage of opportunities.

Also inside this issue, we've dedicated almost two full pages to ribbon cuttings! There has been one after another in the last several weeks, and we're happy to have been a part of them all. It's a mix of new businesses, new locations, anniversaries and expansions. See who's been celebrating, starting on page 14.

Overtime rules - it has come up in the past, and it's coming up again. Are you ready? It's likely you'll want, or need, to know more. Check out our preview on this month's special Seminar & Training Series class on page 11.

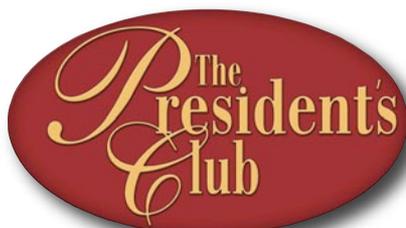

We had 50 vendors and around 1,100 students at our Central PA Career Fair in November! These students are the future workforce, and many businesses are taking their responsibility seriously when it comes to preparing the workers of tomorrow. See who was a part of the big event on pages 16 and 17.

As usual, we welcome new members and thank renewing members on page 4. On the neighboring page, learn more about Thermo Fisher Scientific and Diane Weller Coaching as the featured members in this month's Member Spotlight.

I've only begun to crack the surface of what you'll find inside this month, so start reading! And, have a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year! Enjoy the issue!

Sparkling growth in Milton

MILTON - Some recent news has sparked a lot of excitement in Central PA.

Custom Container Solutions will be moving its operations from Buffalo Township in Union County to the Milton Industrial Park in Northumberland County. They chose the former Crest Homes site, which has sat vacant for the last decade. It's not only because it roughly quadruples their space to 80,000 sq. ft., but because there was an added tax incentive to stay local. The site was granted a KOZ (Keystone Opportunity Zone) Designation by the Governor.

"It was critical in the overall process," said Todd Vonderheid, Managing Partner of CCS. "It was wonderful to know there's a friend an ally to businesses, especially those looking to grow."

Vonderheid was referring to the efforts of the Central PA Chamber of Commerce and its Milton Area Industrial Development Association (MAIDA), along with the collaboration of several local government entities and organizations. Three taxing bodies - Northumberland County, Borough of Milton and Milton Area School District - needed to agree on 10 years of tax relief for the property, in addition to other properties in the immediate area.

"The ability to not pay additional costs allows us to reinvest in equipment, machinery, the building and most importantly the people," Vonderheid said. "We've spent eight years training these people. The last thing we wanted to do was move where they couldn't commute to." CCS currently has close to 40 employees, but the move slated for sometime next year will allow for growth. They also plan to become landlords with some additional space, allowing for more employment and growth. "We're thrilled to have you stay locally," said Chamber President & CEO Tea Jay Aikey, during a recent sit-down conversation with Vonderheid. "I remember distinctly on Sept. 30 at 5:08 p.m., I got a message from you...It was like the birth of a baby for the Chamber because that's what we're suppose to be doing is economic development, since 1905." The conversation was recorded and available to watch on the Chamber's Facebook page and YouTube Channel.

"Every experience we've had with economic development service providers, whether it be the Chamber and MAIDA, or the IMC (Innovative Manufacturers' Center) and SEDA-COG, everyone has been super welcoming, right down to the inspectors and permit offices in the Borough of Milton, and also here in Buffalo Township," Vonderheid said. "When we're ready to strike a spark and start welding in Milton, we'll certainly have a big party."

CCS manufactures custom roll-off steel containers, focusing on solutions for the gas & oil, construction & demolition, municipal & private waste, scrap and recycling industries.

Cookin' Men raises record amount

MIFFLINBURG - Evangelical Community Hospital held its annual breast cancer awareness event, Cookin' Men, on Oct. 24, at the Rusty Rail Brewing Company in Mifflinburg. The event brings together local celebrity men who create culinary delights for people to enjoy while raising funds to support the Thyra M. Humphreys Center for Breast Health.

The event was a huge success, with a crowd of 500 attendees and volunteers coming out to taste the 29 different delicious creations of this year's 26 celebrity male chefs/chef teams. Tickets for the popular event sold-out in just one day.

In total, the event raised over $51,000, the highest since the event began nine years ago. The Center for Breast Health will be using the funds to provide financial assistance to women in the area who are un- or under-insured and need breast cancer screenings.

Pushing the fundraising over the top this year was the competitive drive toward being named Top Chef, which awarded the winner the coveted Pink Whisk Award and the premiere cooking station at the event. The contest, which challenged each chef to individually garner the most donations for the Center for Breast Health, ended at noon the day of the event.

Declared Top Chef were the team of Chris Peifer and Micah Miner of Susquehanna Valley Limousine and National Beef, who raised $4,135 by the deadline. Peifer and Miner served the crowd Kansas City Burnt Ends—a brisket point spiced with seasonings, BBQ sauce and brown sugar.

"We are so grateful for events like these that help women in need stay on top of their breast screenings," said Andrea Bertram, Operational Director of Women's Health and Cancer Services. "It is through the generous support of others, that we can make it possible for women to make their breast health a priority. When we are able to diagnose breast cancer early, we are able to help our patients achieve high cure rates and walk with them through survivorship."

Attendees also voted for their favorite dish by sampling all of the options

For the first time ever, attendees voted for their favorite dish of the night and the results were a tie. At left, Chris Peifer of Susquehanna Valley Limousine and Micah Miner of National Beef and David Rowe of CrossFit Lewisburg (now also state Representative), with his sous chef Becky Palm, tied for favorite dish with their offerings of Kansas City Burnt Ends and Cheddar Peach BBQ Brisket Sliders. Peifer and Miner were also awarded the 'pink whisk' award and the premiere cooking station at Evangelical's Cookin' Men event for raising $4,135 through individual sponsorships to support The Thyra M. Humphreys and casting their vote. Peifer and Miner and David Rowe of CrossFit Lewisburg, now also state Representative, tied for favorite dish with their offerings of Kansas City Burnt Ends and Cheddar Peach BBQ Brisket Sliders.

The Central PA Chamber of Commerce came out to celebrate the kick-off meeting of BNI GSV Business Exchange on Oct. 29 at The Cellars in Lewisburg. BNI meets from 7:30 to 9 a.m. every Tuesday at The Cellars to provide area businesses with effective networking that produces business referrals (something the Chamber definitely appreciates). # Free heating unit repair

LEWISBURG - With colder weather arriving, SEDA-Council of Governments (SEDA-COG) offers a crisis program to residents who qualify for fuel assistance, the Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP).

The crisis program repairs a malfunctioning heating unit at no cost. This program runs from now until April 10.

Mandy Fox, chief of SEDA-COG's Weatherization program, said this is an important offering of which many people aren't aware.

"Many people don't know we offer a program that can resolve their heating emergency at no cost, if qualified. Our subcontractors respond to these heating emergencies 24 hours a day, seven days a week providing clients with one warm room until the issue is resolved," Fox said.

For residents whose heat source is malfunctioning, they should call their county assistance office. The county assistance office will forward the completed referral to SEDA-COG to assign to a subcontractor.

SEDA-COG's Weatherization program serves a seven-county area: Columbia, Juniata, Mifflin, Montour, Perry, Snyder and Union.

If residents don't qualify for LIHEAP or crisis assistance, they may still qualify for SEDA-COG's Weatherization services. SEDA-COG's Weatherization services may provide furnace repair, although it is not immediate help, as it would be through crisis.

Crisis income eligibility guidelines are based on family size: 1 member, $18,735; 2 - $25,365; 3 - $31,995; 4 - $38,625; 5 - $45,255; 6 - $51,885; 7 - $58,515; 8 - $65,145.

The county assistance offices can be reached at the following: Columbia: 570-387-4200; Juniata: 717-436-2158; Mifflin: 717-248-6746; Montour: 570-275-7430; Perry: 1-800-991-1929; Snyder: 570-374-8126; Union: 570-524-2201.

A challenge for 2020

You were created to make somebody else's life better. Somebody needs what you have - your smile, your love, your words and your encouragement. I recently read this quote somewhere, and it really exemplifies what I believe. Unfortunately, there was no name attached to give credit. With the holiday season, we all tend to be more caring and giving, but I wish it was that way the entire year, every single day. "If you have the chance to make people happy, just do it. Sometimes people are struggling silently. Maybe, your act of kindness can make their day." - multiple attributions

This seems to be the attitude we generally adopt during the holiday season but why not all year long? This is a great lead into a book that a successful business owner, Central PA Chamber member, and friend, recently suggested I read. They then were even gracious enough to loan me their copy by hand-delivering it right to my office.

Just so you know, I am not an avid reader. I like to read self-development books, as I believe we all can improve ourselves. However, I do not often make time for reading. Since this member/friend encouraged me to read this book, it is on my active to do list. Shamefully, I've only got to page 21 in the two-plus weeks I've had it in my possession.

The title is "The Go-Giver (A Little Story About A Powerful Business Idea)" by Bob Burg and John David Mann. As I said, I haven't completed the book, but if you would have heard this member/friend tell me how much the book impacted them, you would also add it to your must-read list. The key takeaway from the book is: "Most people just laugh when they hear that the secret to success is giving... Then again, most people are nowhere near as successful as they wish they were." The business man referenced in the book learns that changing his focus from getting to giving - putting others' interests first and continually adding value to their lives - ultimately leads to unexpected returns. As it's said in the Sermon on the Plain - "Give, and you shall receive."

In preparing for the holiday season and adopting your "seasonal" giving spirit, I challenge you to adopt that as your whole 2020 spirit as well. Here's an excerpt from the book referenced earlier to reinforce this mindset. "Go looking for conflict, and you'll find it. Go looking for people to take advantage of you, and they generally will. See the world as a dog-eat-dog place, and you'll always find a bigger dog looking at you as if you're his next meal. Go looking for the best in people, and you'll be amazed at how much talent, ingenuity, empathy and goodwill you'll find. Ultimately, the world treats you more or less the way you expect to be treated. It never hurts to be kind to people."

Happy Holidays and Merry Christmas to you and yours!

Ready for the new OT rules?

MILTON - Government regulations starting in 2020 mean hundreds of thousands of Pennsylvania workers will become eligible for overtime compensation. Is your business ready?

From 9:30 to 11 a.m. on Wednesday, Dec. 18, the Central PA Chamber will host the Seminar & Training Series class "Overtime Rule Change," presented by McNerney, Page, Vanderlin & Hall, a law firm with expertise in all business law areas, including labor and employment.

Longtime Chamber members may recall in 2016 when the Chamber hosted a special presentation on looming overtime rules at that time. Around 50 business representatives attended.

While those rules were halted, the new ones seem imminent.

The U.S. Department of Labor issued a final rulemaking in September, raising the federal overtime salary threshold to $35,568. It will make 61,000 Pennsylvanians newly eligible for overtime on Jan. 1, 2020, according to the state Department of Labor and Industry.

However, the Wolf Administration does not feel the U.S. rule went far enough. So, the state set the minimum salary threshold at $45,500, to be phased in over two years, beginning in 2021.

All told, the new regulation will expand eligibility for overtime to 143,000 people and strengthen overtime protections for 251,000 more. In total, 394,000 workers may benefit from the updated overtime rules, according to the state.

Under current rules, which have not been updated for more than four decades, a salaried worker earning as low as $23,660 can work over 40, 50, 60 or more hours a week and not be guaranteed overtime at time-and-a-half.

The state Department of Labor & Industry's final regulation modernizes overtime rules, clarifies requirement, and updates the salary threshold to reflect current wages paid to Pennsylvanians working in executive, administrative and professional occupations.

In addition, this final overtime regulation ensures that the duties for executive, administrative and professional workers more closely align to the federal overtime regulation, making it easier for employers to know if a worker qualifies for overtime.

To attend the "Overtime Rule Change" seminar on Dec. 18, register at www.centralpachamber.com/events.

Tea Jay Aikey, Central PA Chamber President & CEO and MAIDA Corporate Secretary, and Dale Moyer, Chairman of the Board of Directors, sign the deed over to an undisclosed buyer for the remaining parcels owned by MAIDA.

Last piece sold

MILTON – The Milton Area Industrial Development Association (MAIDA) will officially be out of the land business after it closes on one final land sale. After November's board meeting, Tea Jay Aikey, Central PA Chamber of Commerce President & CEO and MAIDA Corporate Secretary, and Dale Moyer, Chairman of the Board of Directors, signed the deed over to an undisclosed buyer for the remaining four parcels owned by the Milton Area Industrial Development Association in the Milton Industrial Park. MAIDA had been in the land business for decades, and this 59.43 acres was the final piece. "We're incredibly excited and honored to have been able to facilitate the KOZ (Keystone Opportunity Zone) Designation and then sign the deed," Aikey said. This is a huge day for MAIDA and the Central PA Chamber of Commerce to officially be out of the land business and onto new endeavors and economic development projects." The KOZ Designation from the state provided a 10-year tax incentive for the property. MAIDA initially invested in approximately 712 acres of land in the current Milton Industrial Park in 1962.

Corrections Consultants

LEWISBURG - Corrections Consultants, lead by Karen Byerly Nicholson, has been certified by the Women's Business Enterprise National Council (WBENC) as a Woman-Owned Small Business. "There are three amazing things that will be a benefit to me," Nicholson said. "Programs for federal contracts, special grants and loans and the recognition of being a woman-owned small business."

A number of programs can help woman-owned businesses win federal contacts, which will result in a steady amount of work to help get the business going and thriving, according to WBENC. The Small Business Administration's 8(a) Business Development Program awards millions of dollars each year to small-business owners who are trying to get their businesses off the ground. The program especially looks at minority-owned and woman-owned business as candidates to receive economic assistance. The Small Disadvantaged Business Program encourages prime contractors to subcontract to minority- and woman-owned businesses.

Different states also have grant and loan programs for woman-owned business, varying on which state the business is originally set up in. And, having the certification helps to be recognized by more than 700 international corporations and state and local government agencies.

WBENC has 14 regional affiliates and offers certification for woman-owned businesses.

PPL Electric Utilities

ALLENTOWN - PPL Electric Utilities has received the 2019 Achievement Award from the Association of Edison Illuminating Companies (AEIC) for its groundbreaking, innovative technology that safely and automatically cuts power to downed power lines.

The award was presented in October at AEIC’s annual meeting. “Downed power lines may ultimately be unavoidable for an electric utility, but PPL has developed and is implementing this innovative technology to substantially cut the odds that such an event will have tragic results for its employees and the public,” said PPL Electric Utilities President Greg Dudkin. “Nothing is more important than safety.” During a storm in late February 2019, PPL recorded the first successful operation of the new system, powering off a line that came down in a remote, wooded area. By the end of this year, PPL expects to have the new technology in place in about 1,500 locations across its service territory, wherever protective relays are involved. Police officers, firefighters and other first responders can often be the first to encounter downed lines after motor vehicle accidents or during storms. PPL’s new tool will greatly enhance the safety operations of the power grid, keeping those people and PPL line workers safer.

“This really is a game changer,” Dudkin said. “Without being able to detect a downed wire and quickly de-energize it, danger still exists. We’re extremely proud to have successfully implemented this system and of all those involved in its development.”

PPL was able to build upon Schweitzer Electric Laboratories ArcSense™ downed wire detection technology already on its system. PPL engineers developed an algorithm that worked with ArcSense to safely and automatically cut power to that downed wire. PPL is currently patenting the automatic power-cutting technology.

The AEIC Achievement Awards are presented annually to an individual or groups of individuals from AEIC member companies who have clearly provided significant contributions to advancing the operations of the electric energy industry.

A time for giving

It's the holiday shopping season, again! This season is a time of giving, especially to our families, but also to many of our local non-profits that need our support during this time of the year. This is a very busy time of the year for all of us, so I encourage you to reach out to find out how you can make a difference in our community with our non-profit members.

November was Non-profit/Community Day for our youth leadership program, Building Leaders for the Susquehanna Valley. This allowed our students to better understand all the opportunities we have in our region. They experienced pet rescues and pet food missions, to helping with puppetry to spread anti-bullying messages to our youth. All of our non-profit members have ways for you to volunteer to get involved and spend your time. When you don't have the time, perhaps you can make a small donation to help with their missions. Supplies or money are both great donations for most all organizations. If you are ever interested in helping our Business & Education Association for instance, we are always looking for volunteers, sponsors and donations for our programs.

Another way to help "B&E" this holiday season is when you're not shopping local with one of our Chamber members, I highly encourage you to go to smile.amazon.com and support our Business & Education Association through your online purchases! When you shop through Amazon Prime, Amazon donates 0.5% of the price of your eligible purchases to B&E once you choose us as your charitable organization of choice. Amazon Smile is the same Amazon you know, with the same products, prices and service. However, using smile.amazon.com will help to support your favorite local charitable organizations! Many of our members are also on this list, so you can choose multiple to support throughout the whole year.

Again, with the giving season upon us, I would like to encourage you to reach out to us and many of our non-profit members to find out how you can make a difference in your community this holiday season. For more information on how to get involved with B&E, or our Building Leaders for the Susquehanna Valley program, please, contact me at mporter@centralpachamber.com. You can check out all of our non-profit members on our web site (www.centralpachamber.com) under the membership listing subsection "Community & Non-Profit."

I look forward to seeing and/or hearing about all of the great things you are involved with in our communities!

Don't discount discounts!

With the holiday season upon us, everyone is looking for a great deal. Discounts are a great way to gain new customers and keep existing customers around! Below are just five benefits of discount programs.

First, they open the door to greater engagement. When other businesses or customers can have access to a discount, they are more open to hear about your business and learn more about you. When they know they can save with you, they will shop with you.

Second, discounts provide the opportunity to say something other than "Give us more money". Discount programs actually say the complete opposite, they say "Let us give you more money". This is a great way to have regular communications with customers.

Third, they bring the association home. In today's world, we tend to keep our professional and personal lives separate, with good reason. But when we can save money for our personal lives by our connections professionally, our relationships deepen with those organizations offering the discount.

Fourth, discounts give you member contact information. Acquiring contact information can be challenging. Offering a discount usually requires customers to register, which gives you a way to keep in touch.

Fifth, they add meaning. This is a two-way street, one for the organization arranging the discount program, and two, for the business offering the discount. Discount programs give participating members another benefit with their membership dues, and they don't have to be there in person to reap the rewards! This benefit gives those members, who utilize it, a way to see the positive impact that organization gives them on a routine basis.

How can your business get involved with a discount program? Well, if you are a member of the Central PA Chamber of Commerce you have access to one of these programs already! We encourage our Chamber members to offer exclusive discounts or special promotions to other Chamber members. This helps promote their business and strengthen member unity. This Member-to-Member Discount Program is available at no extra charge to our members and is simple to participate in. Simply go to the Central PA Chamber of Commerce web site (www.centralpachamber.com), click on the Member Tab and select Member-to-Member discounts. Here you can explore other member discounts and register a discount for your business. Happy Holidays! I hope to see your discount on there soon!

Veterans Day program at RiverWoods

LEWISBURG – About 100 RiverWoods Senior Living Community residents, family members and supporters attended the annual Veterans Day program on Monday, Nov. 11 at Marlow Hall in the Nursing Care Center.

This year's guest speaker was state Rep. David Rowe of the 85th legislative district. He spoke about the sacrifices veterans make in order to protect the freedoms of all Americans. Rowe also handed out certificates of appreciation to veterans in attendance.

The pledge of allegiance was led by RiverWoods resident and World War II veteran Carl Phillips, who moved with his wife to Watsonstown in 2009 from Rochester, NY.

Phillips was a member of the U.S. Navy during WWII, serving as a member of the Sea-Bees. Members of the American Legion Post 182 presented the opening and closing ceremonies at the event.

Three's Company Trio and RiverWoods employee Lilian Quay provided the accompanying music for the ceremony.

Thank you to all veterans for your sacrifice and service to the nation!
