The Inside Scoop

Making News & Sharing News

May 2026 was particularly eventful at the Central PA Chamber! In addition to celebrating our 121st birthday, we announced the keynote speaker, Dan Manetta, for our Annual Meeting & Impact Awards Ceremony, held our 14th Raising the Board class, and multiple Seminar & Training Series events to highlight "Mental Health Awareness Month."

Tea Jay and I were especially thrilled to join Jayne Ann Bugda at WBRE/WYOU News in Wilkes-Barre for a "Newsmakers" interview about the Central PA Chamber. We were so proud to represent our members for a program that will be broadcast via television, podcast, and YouTube across our region. The Chamber only reaches the audience it does thanks to the joint impact of all of our members. Thank YOU!

We also had an enlightening tour of one of our newer members, the Open Discourse Coalition in downtown Lewisburg. I hope you will enjoy learning about this unique organization, making an impact in our community.

It's June, so hopefully you've registered a team to play in our 25th Annual B&E Golf Tournament and/or purchased your Golf Ball Drop! tickets! Get 'em while you can!

Happy reading,

Ryan Workman, Editor

"Newsmakers Interview"

Chamber In the News

WILKES-BARRE – The Central PA Chamber of Commerce was invited to be the subject of a "Newsmakers" interview to appear on Sunday, June 14 at 7:30 a.m. on WYOU and 11:30 a.m. on WBRE. Central PA Chamber of Commerce President & CEO, Tea Jay Aikey and Communications Director, Ryan Workman travelled to WBRE/WYOU studios in Wilkes-Barre where they met and were interviewed by Jayne Ann Bugda, Executive Producer for Special Projects and the host of "Newsmakers."

Bugda reached out to Workman in response to a Central PA Chamber of Commerce press release covering the recent Raising the Board class. That conversation led to a "Here's to You Kid" segment on Matthew Sherwood of Milton Area High School, who received a scholarship to attend Raising the Board courtesy of the Business & Education Association, as well as the invitation for the Chamber to be part of the "Newsmakers" series.

The wide-ranging conversation covered multiple topics from the Chamber's history to membership benefits to events like Inside Jobs Tours and the Annual Meeting & Impact Awards Ceremony.

In addition to the June 14 broadcast, the interview is also available online via YouTube, streaming, and podcast.

Congrats Grads!

Congratulations to the new Raising the Board graduates who participated in the most recent class!

Eleven individuals representing eight nonprofit organizations attended the day-long course to receive formal training to raise their board!

The Chamber would like to thank the Watson Inn for providing a delicious luncheon for all participants.

Visit the Raising the Board page on www.centralpachamber.com to learn more about the topics covered, mentors, and register to attend the next class.

What makes your business/organization unique?

While we sell home furnishings for every room in the home, Chamber members would probably be most interested in our commercial/contract furniture options. We have been in business for over 90 years.

For decades, Moyer's has proudly supplied the Susquehanna Valley and surrounding regions with high-quality, contract furniture. Our furnishings can be found in churches, funeral homes, bed and breakfasts, universities, state parks, restaurants, offices, and nursing homes—each project tailored to meet the unique needs of the space.

We specialize in customization to match your specifications and budget. Before ordering online, we encourage you to contact us for a no-cost estimate. Our pricing is highly competitive, and our hands-on, personalized service offers a level of care and expertise that online retailers simply can't match. No project is too small or too large—we're happy to work with you every step of the way.

Our options include solid wood construction, laminate tops, custom sizing, and durable Crypton fabrics, among many others. You can view photos from recent projects in our Facebook gallery.

Moyer's is also an approved vendor for all Pennsylvania State Agencies under contract #4400025590.

Recent notable projects include The Rusty Rail Brewery, Spyglass Ridge Winery and Jackass Brewery Williamsport location. We have worked with Bucknell and Susquehanna Universities. State Parks: Bald Eagle State Park, Leonard Harrison State Park, Denton Hill State Park.

We even furnished a room in Governor Shapiro State residence and two verandas at the Capital building.

Becoming Newsmakers for Our Members!

According to AI, the definition of a newsmaker is a person, group, organization, or event that commands significant public and media attention. Their actions, statements, or achievements naturally drive news coverage and shape public discourse.

It also states these key characteristics of a newsmaker:

- Prominence: These figures are usually notable or highly visible, including politicians, athletes, celebrities, or corporate leaders.
- Impact: Their decisions or activities directly alter current events, policies, or cultural trends.
- Newsworthiness: The public has a built-in interest in what they do, making their activities a reliable draw for journalism outlets.

According to Jayne Ann Bugda, who is the Executive Producer for Special Projects and Host/Producer of Newsmakers for WBRE/WYOU TV, the Central PA Chamber of Commerce is worthy of the title newsmaker!

Recently Jayne Ann surprised the Central PA Chamber by extending an invite to appear on the Newsmakers program. She said, "All Chambers are not created equally- you all are amazing in what you do!!" Ryan (Communications Director) and I excitedly accepted the invite, and the program was taped on May 21, 2026. Check out the airing details on page 3.

When asked if there was one signature event the Central PA Chamber of Commerce is known for, we immediately said it is the Annual Meeting and Impact Awards Ceremony.

Speaking of the Annual Meeting and Impact Awards Ceremony, our keynote speaker has been announced! Dan Manetta of South Williamsport, a local leadership and management trainer and consultant, will discuss "lessons in leadership" at this year's October 22, event at Farrington Place in Williamsport.

Leadership is essential to any successful organization. Recently, I have been focusing on my own leadership qualities and inadequacies. In doing so, I find myself reading Compassionate Leadership: 16 Simple Ways to Engage and Inspire Your Team at Work in addition to Treating People Well: How to Master Social Skills and Thrive in Everything You Do.

One of my inadequacies is psychological. I have a feeling internally that I am "not good enough," regardless of my performance. It typically manifests as chronic self-doubt and fear of failure, stemming from low self-esteem or past experiences rather than objective incompetence. Feeling this type of inadequacy of oneself causes me to become defensive trying to hide my insecurity about my ability to perform. I also tend to overwork to mask my insecurity. I strive for perfection in every detail to prove my worth to myself and everyone else.

I am working to understand the root factor to allow me to grow and overcome these behaviors that cause me to be hyper-sensitive to criticism, defensive when performance or decision-making is questioned and sacrificing my own needs to gain acceptance from others. I'd like to close this month's column by sharing an excerpt from one of the books I mentioned earlier, from Compassionate Leadership by Paul Axtell:

We can think we know a person's past or current reality. Nope, no way. We do not know what anyone has experienced in their lives nor what they are dealing with from the last twenty-four hours. Not knowing is a good place to start. Trust that people are doing the best they can given their current reality.

2026 Annual Meeting & Impact Awards Ceremony

Keynote Speaker & New Venue Announced

Central PA Chamber's Signature Event

Promises to be the Biggest Yet

WILLIAMSPORT – For more than a decade, the Central PA Chamber of Commerce has held its Annual Meeting & Impact Awards Ceremony at the Silver Moon Banquet Hall in Lewisburg. The catering and hospitality expertise of Scott Thurston's Feast of Flavor has been instrumental in making the Annual Meeting a highlight of the region's social calendar and helping the Central PA Chamber grow.

If you've attended multiple Central PA Chamber Annual Meetings, you know that no two events are alike. The theme, table settings, decorations, goodie bags, and special keepsake gifts are always a unique experience. This year will be no exception! Last year, Thurston announced his retirement and Feast of Flavor would be closing its doors, creating the need to change the Annual Meeting venue.

More than 230 guests attended last year's Annual Meeting, and the Central PA Chamber's sphere of influence has only increased with nearly 700 member businesses and organizations across over 100 zip codes in 9 US States. Much of the Chamber's local growth has occurred just north of our Milton headquarters, so it is with great pleasure that the Central PA Chamber of Commerce can announce the 2026 Annual Meeting and Awards Ceremony will be held at Farrington Place, 416 W. 3rd Street, Williamsport on Thursday, October 22 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

Eric Winters and his team at Farrington Place have been more than accommodating all the Chamber's unique requests and needs to continue the legacy of this premier event. Central PA Chamber President & CEO, Tea Jay Aikey exclaimed "we are really excited to be working with [Eric] and his team to bring you to this new, beautiful venue."

For the past several years, the Annual Meeting & Impact Awards Ceremony has reached audience capacity. The

Student Scientists Earn Statewide Honors at PJAS State Science Fair

BLOOMSBURG — Six student scientists representing the Bloomsburg Children's Museum earned statewide recognition at the Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science (PJAS) State Science Fair on Monday, May 18, 2026, at Penn State University. Every student who represented the Museum at the state competition received an award.

The students advanced through the Museum's science fair pathway, which gives middle and high school students the opportunity to conduct original research, present their findings, and compete at the local, regional, and state levels.

Seventh grader Saanvi Khara earned a First Award in Microbiology for her project, Soap vs. Sanitizer.

Seventh grader Jane Patterson earned a Second Award in Physics for Hats off to Thermodynamics.

Seventh grader Amelia Ridings earned a First Award in Botany for The Great CO2 Consumer — Which Plant is the Best Air Purifier?

Seventh grader Landon Secules earned a Second Award in Physics for How Does Bat Material Affect Hitting Performance?

Eleventh grader Charlie Corbeill earned a Second Award in Engineering for Bridging the Gap — Which Span is Strongest? Eleventh grader Tim Farwell earned a First Award in Physics for Testing Critical Angle of Attack Using a Wind Tunnel.

Farwell also received a perfect score and the Excellence Award for the top High School Physics project in Pennsylvania, one of the highest honors awarded at the state competition.

For Ridings, the experience was inspiring.

“I never thought I could get to this level in 7th grade. This experience wasn’t only fun but super educational.” Ridings said.

“These students represent exactly why the Bloomsburg Children’s Museum invests so deeply in science fair programming,” said Dr. Ginny Weibel, Executive Director of the Bloomsburg Children’s Museum. “They are asking real questions, designing experiments, analyzing data, and learning how to communicate their ideas clearly. To have every student earn a state-level award — and to see Tim receive a perfect score and the top High School Physics honor in the state — is an incredible achievement for these students and for our region.”

The Bloomsburg Children’s Museum’s competitive Science Fair serves as a regional STEM pipeline for students in grades 6 through 12. The Museum’s 11th Annual Science Fair featured 56 student projects from schools and homeschool groups across five Pennsylvania counties, supported by 27 volunteer judges representing regional businesses, universities, nonprofit organizations, and STEM professionals. Twenty-five students advanced from the local fair to the Region 5 PJAS competition, with top students continuing on to the state level.

The Museum’s science fair program is designed to recognize academic achievement while helping students build confidence, public speaking skills, independent research skills, and early career awareness in STEM fields. Through programs such as the Annual Science Fair, BloomCON Hak4Kidz, Bloomsburg Maker Fest, robotics programs, mobile STEM outreach, and maker education, the Bloomsburg Children’s Museum continues to create accessible pathways for rural students to explore science, technology, engineering, and mathematics.

“We are proud of every student who took the risk to present their work,” Weibel said. “Science fair is not just about winning an award. It is about helping students see themselves as scientists, engineers, problem-solvers, and future leaders.”

WellSpan Evangelical Community Hospital Earns Healthgrades Outstanding Patient Experience Award

YORK – WellSpan Evangelical Community Hospital has been recognized as a 2026 Healthgrades Outstanding Patient Experience Award recipient. The distinction places the hospital in the top 10% nationally for patient experience.

WellSpan Evangelical Community Hospital has received the award for seven consecutive years (2020-2026) and has been named among the top 10% of hospitals in the country for patient experience each year since 2020.

“This recognition is a powerful validation of the difference our team members make for our patients and their loved ones every day,” said Dr. Anthony Aquilina, executive vice president and chief physician executive, WellSpan Health. “The team at WellSpan Evangelical Community Hospital understands there are countless moments throughout a patient’s stay to pair clinical excellence with genuine compassion and empathy and that commitment shines through in every interaction.”

The award reflects WellSpan’s commitment to creating a personalized care experience for each patient. The health system has been intentional about designing health care around the individual, meeting patients’ needs and busy lives with options that fit their schedules.

As part of its annual analysis, Healthgrades evaluated nearly 4,000 hospitals that submitted at least 100 Hospital Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems surveys, covering admissions from January through December 2024.

To determine recipients of the Outstanding Patient Experience Award, Healthgrades applies a scoring methodology to 10 patient experience measures. These measures focus on patients’ perceptions of their hospital care, including staff communication, medication explanations and cleanliness. The Outstanding Patient Experience Award is based on positive patient feedback in these critical areas.

“Better patient experiences are correlated with better health outcomes, which is why patients should always strive to seek care at a facility with a clear dedication to high-quality, patient-centered care,” said Dr. Alana Biggers, medical adviser at Healthgrades. “As a recipient of the Outstanding Patient Experience Award, WellSpan Evangelical Community Hospital sets the benchmark for patient experience nationwide, ensuring every patient feels heard, empowered and confident throughout the care journey.”

Inside Jobs Tour

Joining the Conversation at the Open Discourse Coalition

LEWISBURG — The Open Discourse Coalition (ODC) opened its doors to Central PA Chamber members for an Inside Jobs Tour in May.

After grabbing a beverage from the vault and a delicious BBQ luncheon, CEO Charles Mitchell discussed the ODC's genesis and amiable goal to bring speakers, students, and the community at large to an open, safe, and ideologically unbiased space to discuss critical topics and issues. He was joined by Office Manager, Alexa Spaventa who pointed out some of the past and upcoming programming highlights (displayed beautifully on posters printed by Central PA Chamber member, the UPS Store) throughout the space.

The group then proceeded to tour and learn more about the historical buildings which the ODC occupies, as well as the Bucknell University classes, speakers, and supporters associated with the ODC.
